Salute Alaska and Northwest Canada's mineral explorers

Alaska, British Columbia, Yukon Territory, Northwest Territories and Nunavut are among the richest mineral provinces on earth. Despite this world-class endowment, the ongoing drought of venture capital is weighing on many of the companies seeking to unlock the untapped mineral potential of these vast Far North regions. Continuing a tradition of providing unparalleled coverage of mineral exploration in Alaska and Canada's North, the 2014 Mining Explorers will share valuable insights into opportunities and challenges faced by the industry.

Don't miss your chance to be a part of this informative annual magazine and show your support for the explorers with the resilience to continue unlocking the vast mineral potential in Alaska and Canada's North.
