An Arctic mining newspaper based in Anchorage, Alaska

North of 60 Mining News, a sister newspaper to Anchorage-based Petroleum News, is published monthly in both print and online editions. We cover the mining industry in Alaska and Northwest Canada. Mining executives, government leaders and investors all trust Mining News as the most comprehensive and up-to-date source for hardrock and coal mining industry news coverage of this Far North region. Mining News reporters frequently travel to see mining projects for themselves and report developments announced at major mining conferences. In addition to the monthly print edition, North of 60 Mining News keeps readers up to date with concise coverage of the latest industry happenings in a weekly newsletter delivered directly to our customers' email accounts.
