Exploration spending tops $270M; eight projects in development pipeline

Operated by Teck Resources Ltd. and situated on Northwest Alaska lands owned by NANA Regional Corp., the Red Dog Mine produced 551,300 metric tons of zinc during 2013, accounting for roughly 4 percent of the global supply. This exceptionally high-grade operation and a number of exploration and early development zinc projects in Alaska and Canada's North are set to benefit from anticipated zinc prices being driven up by falling global supply.
